How to run the room

- Open on 3.0. Scan the first star, let the rebrand land before any explaining.
- Then the app. Hand your phone over on the second star, people believe what they touch.
- Everything else is on demand. The rest are there so no question sends you hunting.

Six things 3.0 does for you.

Discover two ways

The Look browses real nail photos, filtered by shape, type and style. Near Me finds techs on a map by distance. Whichever way a client thinks, they land on a tech.

Book your own tech by name

Already have a favorite? Search her name and book straight from her profile. It's not only for discovering someone new.

Free booking, no commission

Free for every tech, no per-booking fee. Two paths, their call: keep the link they already use, or turn on in-app booking. Nothing to switch.

Works in a browser

No app store, no download. It opens in Safari or Chrome, and "add to home screen" makes it feel like a native app. Removes the biggest reason people bounce.

Photos are the ad

Being on the map is always free. Photos are what put a tech in the feed, and she controls it, first photo free, then she chooses how much to show.

Live availability

Available Today and Open This Week surface techs with real openings, so a client who needs a fast appointment finds one.

How it works, start to finish.

The whole flow on one page, both sides of it. Walk it out loud, or leave it behind. The full tech guide is one scan away at the bottom.

Finding & booking CLIENTS

- 1 Open it, no download
Tap the link or scan the QR. It runs in the browser; add to home screen to keep it.
- 2 Find your look, or your tech
Browse The Look, find techs Near Me, or search a tech you already love by name.
- 3 See her work
Open a profile for real photos, location, availability, and how to book.
- 4 Book in seconds
Pick a time, confirm with your name and a verified phone. That's it, no calls, no DMs.

Getting set up TECHS

- 1 Create a free account
Name, email, phone. Free forever, no commission and no per-booking fee.
- 2 Build your profile
Your name, area, and a short bio. This is what puts you on the map for clients nearby.
- 3 Add photos
First one's on us. Photos are what move you from the map into the feed, you control how much you show.
- 4 Turn on booking
Keep the link you already use, or switch on in-app booking with your services and hours.

The story of the rebuild.

Four moves took My Nail Connection from 2.0 to 3.0. Each one is a talking point, use them in order and the whole arc tells itself.

1

The rebrand — quiet luxury.

Off the busy pink look onto the Nagel board: white space, mauve, black, the hat-no-face mark, black buttons. Reads calmer, more premium, and consistent from the site through the app to this handout.

2

The free-booking pivot — no commission, ever.

Booking is free for techs, with no per-booking fee. Two paths, their call: keep the link they already use, or turn on in-app booking. Nothing to switch, no reason to say no.

3

Accounts that just work — softer sign-in.

Sign-up and the confirm / reset emails were rewired so a tapped link lands people inside the app, already signed in. Booking asks only for a name and a verified phone.

4

The data rescue — nothing was lost.

The old database looked dead, it wasn't, just a stale password. Every tech, photo, and record from 2.0 was recovered on 15 July 2026. The final step is restoring it into the new paid database.

Where things stand

- DONE Rebrand shipped to the 3.0 preview, marketing + app, and the tech guide.
- DONE Free-booking model and softer sign-in built. Old-database rescue complete (15 Jul 2026).
- PENDING Restore rescued data into the paid database, then real-device tests: one photo upload, one SMS booking.
- PENDING Cutover: promote 3.0 to the main site and retire 2.0.
